

Skin Cafe Sunscreen Marketing Strategy

A Trust-Driven Marketing Strategy to Make Sunscreen a Daily Habit

Situation Analysis

Where we are

- ☐ Trust gap toward local skincare brands
- ☐ Market dominated by foreign skincare brand
- ☐ Low male participation in skincare
- ☐ Low awareness about UV protection

Where we want to be

- ☐ Strong trust toward local skincare brands
- ☐ Skin Cafe positioned as a trusted alternative to foreign brands
- ☐ Higher male engagement in sunscreen usage
- ☐ Increased awareness about daily UV protection and sunscreen benefits

Consumer Analysis

Target Consumers

- ☐ Age Group: 18–30
- ☐ Urban & semi-urban youth
- ☐ Social media-driven consumers
- ☐ Students and young professionals

Buying Behavior

- ☐ Trust influencer and peer reviews before purchase
- ☐ Compare local brands with foreign alternatives
- ☐ Highly price-sensitive but quality-conscious

Trust Barrier and Market Challenges

Trust Barriers

- Strong perception that foreign brands are safer
- and more effective
- Fear of counterfeit and low-quality skincare products
- Limited trust in locally manufactured cosmetics
- Lack of scientific skincare awareness among consumers

Market Challenges

- Highly competitive skincare market
- Consumers highly sensitive to price
- Sunscreen still not part of daily routine
- Difficulty differentiating local brands from competitors

Trust Building Strategy

Prove of quality

- Show lab certificate
- Telling where the ingredients come from
